

Health and Safety

We recognise that the health & safety of our employees and the public is of primary importance in our operations. Every safety-related incident, whether or not an injury is sustained, is reported to the relevant member of the management team and is fully investigated to enable corrective actions to be implemented.

An important feature of health & safety activity is the high standard of housekeeping expected at all of our sites.

Each site is operated in accordance with the site health & safety statement, which is reviewed and updated regularly with the assistance of a specialist health & safety subject matter expert.

Our Health & Safety Awareness Program is constantly monitored both internally and externally by the appropriately appointed accreditation bodies.

Copper fastened by a robust Health & Safety statement across all facilities and functions and is enabled and actioned by all members of the Masterlink team throughout the business.
